BELLE GLADE-PAHOKEE, FL.

McKinstry appointed Council President

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee City Council unanimously elected veteran Councilman W.E. "Billy" McKinstry as council president, at an adjourned meeting, Tuesday, May 15.

A councilman for over nine years, McKinstry succeeds Ada Conley as president.

McKinstry said the president's main responsibility is to conduct council's meeting. The president is also depended on to provide leadership and to face much of the public feedback, he added.

The council's number one priority, McKinstry said, should be hiring an assistant utilities director to replace retiring director, Bill Cross. Council members will discuss replacements at their next meeting, Tuesday, May 22.

Ronnie Graydon was appointed council vice president, as the council reorganized at Tuesday's meeting.

Council members chose departments over which they will supervise. McKinstry was reappointed police supervisor; Graydon, utilities; Conley, administration, library and fire department; Curtis Miners, public works; and Walt Rashley, parks department.

All officials elected in the recent elections were sworn into office, Tuesday including: Duncan Padgett, mayor; Betty McCoy, city clerk; Carmen Salvatore III, police chief; Conley, Miners and Graydon.

In other council news, a workshop was scheduled to discuss water and sewage hookup for the proposed mobile home park off SR 715 across from Pahokee Airport. The council will meet Wednesday, May 23, at 7:30 p.m.

Council members also turned down a request for a city tax license from a Belle Glade man, noting local residents should get first shot at the licenses.

Graydon successfully defends seat

PAHOKEE—Ronnie Graydon entered a second term on the Pahokee City Council, Tuesday, May 15, as he defeated Ed Lee in a run-off election by a 272-213 margin.

A total of about 485 residents voted out of a total of about 1,900 registered voters.

Graydon, 43, 140 N. Flame Ave., said he thought the voters expressed their satisfaction in his performance over the last two years.

"I think I've been responsive to the city's needs and to the taxpayers," he said.

Going into the election, Graydon said, he thought he had a good chance to win, if the voters turned out. The council's most immediate concern is the water and sewage situation, said Graydon, who will again serve as utilities councilman.

Lee, 51, 2597 Bacom Point Road, said, "I really appreciate the voters very, very much."

Noting he had been a Pahokee resident for just three years, Lee said he thought he fared pretty well in the election. Asked about future campaign bids, Lee said it would all depend on the circumstances at the time.

Lee said he was still interested in a position with the city as assistant utilities director.

Woman stabbed to death at home

BELLE GLADE—An 18-year old Belle Glade woman was found dead at her apartment after an apparent stabbing, Tuesday afternoon, May 15.

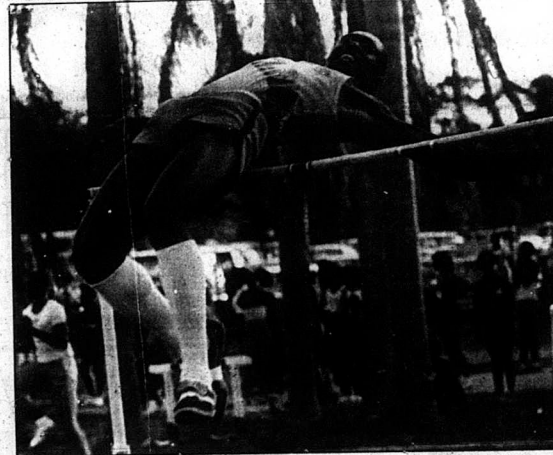

Police identified the body as Tina Kirchman, 18, 424 S.E. Ave. E. Apt. 2.

Detective John Carney said no arrests have been made, but several leads are being investigated. A kitchen knife, believed to be the murder crime, was found at the apartment.

Time of death is estimated to be early afternoon, Carney said. Kirchman's brother, Steve McBride found the body at about 4:30 p.m., after hearing Kirchman's 15-month old son crying.

Apparently, Kirchman was killed in the baby's bedroom, Carney said, adding that the baby was unharmed. The baby was turned over by police to the victim's mother.

GCI hosts control force competition

BELLE GLADE—Guard teams from five Southern Florida state prisons compared methods of confrontation management at Glades Correctional Institute, Thursday, May 10.

Teams competed against each other in the morning, going through a number of management routines, and then participated in drills and training in the afternoon.

GCI's 12-man confrontation management team finished second in the morning's competition by just two points to Dade Correctional Institute. GCI's performance, directed by Lt. Ed Pipta, featured an exhibition of defensive baton thrusts.

Pipta noted that while other correctional teams emphasized offensive baton thrusts and smashes, occasionally the need arises for defensive strategy. Certain moves, Pipta said, can provide defense and restore order in a riot.

Robert Turner, GCI superintendent, said the regional competition and drills is held four times a year at GCI. "The idea is so that they move, in any disorder, in perfect unison," Turner said.

The confrontation management event is very productive, Turner said.

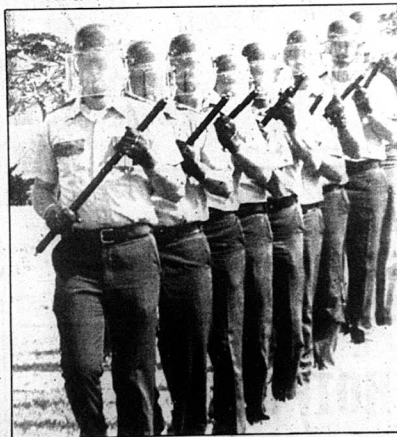

It's absolutely necessary. "They (the guards) can't make a mistake because they're held strictly accountable," he said.

Turner made a plea for increased state funds to allow institutes to maintain and upgrade training programs. Current funding is not nearly sufficient, he said.

"I wish someone in the state government would sit down and explain to me why we can't get more," Turner added.

Wayne Riddleberger, training director at GCI, said the control force event prepares guards for crisis situations. "They're taught to follow commands without the slightest hesitation," he said.

Royal's stores sold to McCrory

BELLE GLADE—Royal's Department Stores, an eleven-store chain of family department stores that originated 54 years ago to serve pioneer Lake Okechobee farm and fishing families, was sold to a major national variety store chain, announced Larry Royal, President of Royal's, Inc.

McCrory Stores Division of McCrory Corp. of York, Pa., will begin operations of the Royal's stores in early July.

"Nationally, and especially in fast growing South Florida, our industry has come to belong to a handful of giant nationwide retailers with buying power and resources far beyond anything possible for a small, regional department store retailer," said a statement released by George L. Royal, the founder and Chairman of the Board of Royal's.

"We have concluded that our best opportunity to continue to serve and thrive in the communities where we have built a reputation for providing honest, competitive values to our customers is to direct our full attention to new and exciting opportunities," the chairman said.

All but one of the eleven Royal's Department Stores in south central Florida communities will go under the McCrory's banner when the sale is concluded. A large majority of the employees of Royal's are expected to continue under the new ownership.

Larry Royal and his brother, Charles, vice president of the company, directed the company's diversification in recent years as it grew to become a major shopping center and real estate developer. More recently, the family entered the franchise food service market with Burger King and Popeye's Fried Chicken. Royal Homes, a new manufactured home dealer system, was introduced this year with plans for rapid growth into new markets.

The Royals, in a statement, said the sale to McCrory's "represents a new and promising direction for the future growth of Royal's, Inc. involving more markets and a broader base for growth." The company will continue to expand furniture retail sales from the base provided by the department stores, the company's executives said.

"Home furnishings, appliances and home entertainment sales have been a very important factor in the success of Royal's in recent years and since McCrory's is not in that segment," the statement said.

Full control of marina to city

BELLE GLADE—The city has taken deed control over the city marina.

City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang reported the South Florida Water Management District Board of Directors, on Friday, May 11, approved an agreement which will give the city total control of the marina.

Additionally, the water district will pay the city $727,608 for future improvements at the marina. Officials have indicated payment, by check, will be made next week, Strang said.

The city will also have complete access to Continued on 2

ment of the retail industry, we will continue," they added.

The terms of the sale were not disclosed however Royal's, Inc. will continue to own the shopping centers and buildings where the stores are located, said Mr. Royal.

Only the downtown Belle Glade location, one of the company's first, will continue under the familiar red Royal's oval. It is expected to become a furniture store when the sale is completed in mid-summer.

"While we were not seeking buyers for our department stores," said Larry Royal, "when the opportunity presented itself, we came to believe it would be in the best interest of Royal's, Inc., the majority of our employees and our customers for us to view the McCrory's offer positively."

"We are grateful for our success thanks to the support of our many loyal customers in every community we serve however we came to recognize that the dilemma we face as a relatively small, independent retailer is an industry-wide reality and one we felt we should address immediately," Royal concluded.

Royal's has stores in Belle Glade, Clewiston, Okeechobee, LaBelle, Immokalee, Pahokee, South Bay and Lake Placid.

Royal's grew from a small wood plank storefront general mercantile and grocery store near the end of the Great Depression as pioneer farmers began moving into the interior Lake Okeechobee region of Florida.

The senior Royal and his wife, Sue, guided the company through the period of rapid growth, bringing new stores to developing cities and towns as the area developed to the nation's famous Winter vegetable capital and later primary domestic sugar cane producer.

Mr. Royal has continued to take an active role in the leadership of the company throughout its 54 years of continuous operation.

"My family and I deeply appreciate and treasure the relationship we have enjoyed with our customers through the years," said the founder in his statement.

"We feel very fortunate to have been a part of the growth of the great south central Florida area we chose as our home and shall always appreciate the confidence shown in us by our customers and friends," he concluded.

City Commission regardless of the outcome of the county election.

Cox said she was firmly committed to run for the county post and to resign as city commissioner. She said she thought she could do more for the area as a county commissioner.

"I've been with this city for 13 years," she said, "and I've worked on everything from housing to recreation. But as county commissioner I can serve the county and the City of South Bay."

Another announcement that constituted a change in the reorganization of the commission was James M. Gann's decision to resign as city attorney.

A recent real estate transaction acquired in his private practice will require him to travel to and from Orlando which he feels will not allow him the necessary time to devote to the city commission.

Gann, however, offered to stay on for a period of 45 days to complete his duties.

Although Tanner said he would "reluctantly accept his resignation," he motioned to advertise for a replacement.

All other officials were reappointed including Police Chief Roy Humston and Fire Chief Johnny Parchment.

Commissioner Refugio V. Garcia, Jr. will be responsible for the streets and public works, Commissioner Clarence Anthony will handle the affairs of the police department and Commissioner Willie Marshall will be responsible for the fire department.

Lomax Harrelle and Virginia K. Walker will stay on as city manager and city clerk.

Other issues covered included:

bid for a floating aerator of $6,540 from A. B. Curis and Associates, Inc. of Lakeland, Fla.

ayor Cox also proclaimed May 27-June 3 as Soil Stewardship Week to commemorate the support for soil and water conservation.

Grievance board to be set up

SOUTH BAY—City commissioners will attempt to set up a grievance board for South Bay employees.

Commissioners agreed, in a workshop, Monday, May 14, to ask members of the currently inactive Civil Service Board to serve a dual role on a grievance board.

Commissioner Willie Marshall said there was a need for some type of body to serve as a final authority in grievance cases. "We (city commission) are trying to stay away from being a grievance board," he said.

Clarence Anthony agreed, adding the city should give the board enough authority to make it worthwhile. "If we're going to have a grievance board, let that grievance board's decision be final," he said.

The personnel workshop was arranged after commissioners received a letter from a recently discharged employee, who complained she was fired without a good reason.

Mayor Don Tanner said the grievance board would be used by any non-probationary employee who had taken a complaint before his immediate supervisor and the city manager, but was not satisfied with the results.

Commissioners stressed they were not trying to supersede City Manager Lomax Harrelle, rather just putting another step into the grievance procedure.

Anthony had originally proposed re-activating the Civil Service Board. However, Tanner pointed out that the five-member Civil Service Board only had jurisdiction over employees who have passed the Civil Service exam. South Bay has very few Civil Service employees, he added.

Harrelle noted commissioners tried to re-activate the Civil Service Board about two years ago, but found employees did not want to take the Civil Service exam. The city also had problems in getting members of the Civil Service Board to meet regularly, Harrelle added.

Anthony suggested the city write each board member and ask if they're interested in serving on a grievance board. If they agree to serve, but miss three consecutive meetings, they should be replaced, he said.

Commissioners will discuss any openings on the board and alternates at future meetings.

In a related matter, Anthony requested that all city job openings be listed on the bulletin board at City Hall.

Gun control resolution passed

South Bay city commissioners passed a resolution Tuesday, May 15, to enact an ordinance where a 10-day "cooling-off" period will be placed on anyone purchasing a handgun.

The ordinance will mean that there will be a 10-day gap between the time a person actually purchases a hand gun to the time of delivery.

This time period will allow a distributor to check for any criminal record the buyer may have.

Following a straw ballot held in March during county elections, it was determined that the majority of voters favored gun control.

However, it was not until the recent murders in Lake Worth before the push came for the ordinance.

Apparently, both murders were committed within hours after a handgun was purchased.

Lake Worth's Mayor Betty Cortese pressed other cities within the county to pass the ordinance.

Friday, Houtz was found by deputies dead in the bathroom. The cause of the fire apparently was faulty wiring in one of the walls, Radford said.

Escaped murderer apprehended

BELLE GLADE — Sheriff's officials captured an escaped Glades County correctional inmate, convicted of first degree murder, Thursday morning, May 17, two days after his escape.

Daniel Lonergan, 20, serving a life sentence for charges ranging from murder to attempted escape, was apprehended at about 8:45 a.m., hit-chuked on SR 80 toward West Palm Beach.

According to reports, Glades Sub Station Detective Rick Radford, travelling toward the coast, and Major Frank Fogleman, also of the Sub Station, travelling toward Belle Glade, converged upon Lonergan and apprehended him.

Sheriff's Detective Steve Haller said Lonergan had spent two days in the corn fields in the 20-Mile Bend area. Only by burying himself, with only his nose above ground level, was Lonergan able to avoid detection by helicopters and K-9 units. Haller said, noting the escapee had also discarded his pants in a field as a decoy.

Haller said search teams came very close to Lonergan.

Upon his arrest for escape, Lonergan, well beaten and scratched, reportedly said that if he ever attempted another escape, it would not be in the Glades.

Lonergan and Curtis Nowling escaped Tuesday, May 8 from a work detail at the 20-Mile Bend Ranch, running into nearby corn fields. Nowling was apprehended less than two hours after his escape.

Both men were charged with escape.

Glade Grove proposal supported

PAHOKEE —A proposal to move the Palm Beach County Public Road Department to the Glades and Grove Supply building has received the support of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber directors approved a resolution recommending county commissioners make the Glade and Grove move.

Commissioners are scheduled to discuss the proposal, as well as other alternatives in a workshop, Thursday, May 17.

Chamber President Jim Bennett said, in suggesting the resolution, "The thing we need to do is let the county commissioners know we want the facility here."

The move to the building would force its removal from the taxroll and therefore cost the city an estimated $1,600 yearly. However, Bennett said this loss would be more than made up in other revenue.

The new road department would mean more people coming into Pahokee every day and using local establishments. Plus the county would also have to pay the city's utility and electricity rates, Bennett said.

"We need to work to get some things in here," Bennett said.

Back in January, chamber directors had made a similar resolution, asking city commissioners not to oppose the move. The commission, after considering opposition to the proposal, decided not to take a stand.

Among other buildings being considered for the road department's move is Glades Skateworld, located in Belle Glade.

In other business, directors talked about reversing Pahokee's negative image.

Bennett said the chamber should take a lead in promoting the city. The lake is one asset the city should really push, considering that Pahokee is the only town situated directly on the lake, he stated.

"We are not pushing the greatest natural resource we have and that's the lake. We need to push Pahokee in regards to Lake Okeechobee," Bennett said.

R.D. Senterfeit pointed out that unless the lakefront is developed, tourists will continue to be disappointed in what they see when they travel to Pahokee.

Ray Hatton II, representative of the Pahokee Marina Development Corporation, noted the lake is the one interest which really stands to gain the most in PMDC's proposed lakefront develop-

$10,000 of stolen property recovered

BELLE GLADE —Police recovered about $10,000 worth of stolen property and charged a local man with eight counts of burglary, Sunday, May 13.

According to the police report, Jose Santo, 22, 664 S.W. Fifth St., was charged with six burglaries from the local school system and two burglaries from the Glades Association of Retarded Citizens, also located in Belle Glade. The series of burglaries began in March with the most recent theft occurring May 12.

Belle Glade Police Detective Albert Dowdell recovered property including a video system, three color televisions, several power tools, numerous hand tools and power tool accessories.

Dowdell reported his investigation began Saturday evening, May 12 with a unanimous tump and continued into Sunday. The Palm Beach County School Board Security Department assisted Dowdell in the investigation.

City interested in marina proposal

By TOM KISKEN
BELLE GLADE—A local resident has asked for the city's assistance in bringing a boat sales, repair and storage facility to Belle Glade.
 Malcolm Collins said he hopes to build the boat facility on his property on the 1700 block of SR 80 as of Aug. 1, if he does not sell the property before then.
 The property, under current city ordinances, would have to be zoned industrial to allow for the boat facility. Collins admitted such a zone would allow him to build whatever he wants on the area.
 "I don't want an industrial zone. All I want is the end result (the boat facility)."
 The property is currently listed under the city's most liberal business zone, B-3, which allows mechanical work, but does not allow storage. Collins had at an earlier meeting requested the B-3 zoning, saying five industrial corporations were interested in acquiring the land, only if it was appropriately zoned.
 While Collins said the companies are still interested in the land, he said he will sell only if an offer is made by Aug. 1. If he can't sell the land, he will need an industrial zoning in order to build the boat storage facility.

 Commissioners decided not to allow an industrial zone on the property, but asked John Baker, city attorney, to investigate the possibility of amending the business zones to allow for storage.
 Baker said such an amendment would be possible, but warned commissioners that once a zone is revised, property owners can build anything allowed by the zone. "It's not what he says he'll do, but what he can do," he said.
 Commissioners also should be wary of spot zoning, Baker said. If each lot is going to be zoned toward each land owner's individual needs, the city will eventually have an unmanageable situation, he added.
 Commissioner Dan Bythwood said he was concerned about keeping business in Belle Glade. The city needs a boat repair and storage facility to attract boaters and tourists.

"With the improvements at the marina, more and more people are going to be coming here," he said.
 Collins told commissioners the city is losing money because of the lack of a boat storage, repair facility. "There's probably not a major city from Miami to New York that doesn't have a marina of some sort," he stated.
 In another zoning decision, commissioners agreed to rezone a lot at 500 N.W. 18th St. from residential to restricted business. The zoning request was originally made in November by Doris Wilson, who indicated she hoped to sell her lot.
 Commissioners had originally denied the request, stating they needed more information about what business would be using the property.
 At Monday's meeting, John Alderman II told commissioners he hoped to construct a furniture specialty store on the lot.
 "Anything that is built in that property while we're in court would be in accordance with what we've built in the past," Alderman said.

Fritz Stein Jr. told commissioners said the majority of residents in the SR 715 area are still opposed to the zoning change. "Our concern is what is going in there and how it affects the surrounding area," he said.
 Bythwood told Stein he felt Alderman had filled out the requirement of letting the commissioners know what is going in on the lot.
 In other business, City Manager W.E. Strang said the city's water treatment plant is 95 percent completed, while the wastewater plant is between 74-81 percent complete.
 Commissioners authorized Harvin to submit the city's five-year comprehensive land use plan to state, county and local agencies for approval. Commissioners are scheduled to review and approve the five-year plan in August.
 City Clerk June Boglioli reported that she was scheduled to represent the Florida Municipal Clerks Association at the Palm Beach County Commission meeting, Tuesday, May 15 in West Palm Beach. Commissioners are scheduled to proclaim the current week, municipal clerks week.

Cooperation with police awarded

BELLE GLADE—After giving information which led to an arrest in a homicide, a 14-year old Pahokee youth was officially thanked by sheriff's deputies at the Glades Sub Station.
 Snowie Eaton, 14, 354 Rardin Ave., son of Susie G. Eaton, was awarded a certificate, Tuesday, May 15, citing his "outstanding service to Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office and to the people of Palm Beach County." Eaton was also awarded a $100 savings bond given by Sub Station deputies.
 Sheriff Richard Willie, who presented the plaque to Eaton, said information given by the boy played a very important role in breaking a recent case.

 "You did a great thing and we appreciate it. If the world had more people like you it would be a much better place," Willie said.
 Major Frank Fogleman, of the Glades Sub Station, said the case probably would not have been resolved without information volunteered by Eaton.
 Eaton is a seventh grader at East Lake Middle School.
 Willie noted the idea to officially commend Eaton came from Sub Station deputies. Fogleman added that Eaton would also have a chance to win an award at the station's annual awards banquet.

SHERIFF RICHARD WILLIE presents Snowie Eaton, center, with a certificate, citing his outstanding service for providing information which led to the resolution of a homicide.

Belle Glade Chamber members to plan budget

BELLE GLADE—Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce directors are scheduled to meet in an executive session, Thursday, at 12 a.m., to plan next year's budget.
 Directors briefly discussed the chamber's financial situation at their regular meeting, Monday, May 14.
 Jewel Crane, chamber secretary, reported that the chamber netted about $1,500 from their Black Gold dinners, significantly down from last year's Jubilee profit of about $5,000.
 Robert Reassler, chamber vice president, said directors should consider the possibility of revising the dinners at next year's jubilee. "We all really have to give this some thought."
 Crane suggested the chamber form a Jubilee sub-committee which would plan the dinners.

This sub-committee should work closely with the city commission appointed Black Gold Jubilee committee, Crane said, adding a meeting between the Black Gold committee and chamber directors should be scheduled soon.
 Directors briefly discussed annual banquet preparations and indicated decisions on exact date, location and speaker would be soon forthcoming.
 Crane said the chamber has 20 new members this year. However, the chamber's paid membership is slightly below last year's level.
 Expressing hope that old chamber members would activate their memberships, Crane said the chamber needs all the new members it can get. "We just have to get new members—that's all to survive."

Cox states position

SOUTH BAY—Palm Beach County Commission candidate Vernita Cox said a seat on the commission will enable her to continue to serve the Glades, but on a higher plane.

"From this higher plane I might be able to do more for South Bay, the Glades and Palm Beach County," said Cox, who last week filed her letter of intent to run for the District Five seat.

Cox, 52, of 218 S.W. 12th Ave., South Bay, said she is firmly committed to run for the commission and also to resign as a South Bay city commissioner, where she has served for the past 13 years. "I'll still be serving City of South Bay, just on a different plane," she said.

In order to formally qualify in July for the county election, Cox, a Democrat, will have to submit her resignation from the South Bay city commission. Cox would have to resign regardless of whether she is successful or not in her county bid. The resignation would take effect the day elected county commissioners assume office.

Experience with both city and county government combine to make her the best qualified candidate, Cox said. "I feel I have the experience and the expertise."

Support from the Glades will be crucial to Cox's campaign hopes. "I have to have the support of all the Glades and hopefully, I'll get the support of the people on the coast also," she said.

Asked whether her support might be too narrow to launch a successful campaign, Cox pointed out that she has dealt with people throughout the county. Currently, Cox is a member of the county's Board of Community Development.

"I am known well enough to people that I can get my platform out," she said.

Major issues on Cox's platform include managing growth, four-laning SR 80, controlling county spending and opposing Proposition One (reborn).

She stressed that as a commissioner, she would continue to live in the Glades and work toward the benefit of the area. Cox is the only commission candidate from the Glades.

Commissioner Bill Bailey, of Belle Glade, who currently holds the District Five seat, has said he will not run again, unless a qualified candidate from the Glades fails to surface.

Cox's democratic opponents include Lou Martinez, James Quigley and Frank Kohl. Republicans Ken Adams and Arthur Walner are also seeking the commission seat.

Over the past 13 years on the South Bay city commission, Cox, currently vice mayor, served two terms as mayor. She is also active in the Tri-City League.

Cox is a staff nurse at the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic Crisis Unit, in Belle Glade.

Man arrested in scam

BELLE GLADE—A man claiming to be a reverend was arrested for grand theft after taking a police officer's money in exchange for a promise that the man's problems would cease.

Belle Glade Police Detective John Carney reported that Calvin Anthony Whitley, 42, 40 W. Canal St. S., Belle Glade, was arrested Friday, May 11.

Whitley, claiming to be the Rev. Calvin Samuels, told an undercover officer that his problems would cease, if he paid an amount of money in excess of $300.

Police were first alerted to the scam, Carney said, by a newsletter issued by Whitley, stating that he would be available for services at the Sunland Motel in Belle Glade, Friday morning.

In a joint Sheriff's Department - Belle Glade police investigation, a police officer posed as a troubled customer and asked Whitley for help.

Whitley in turn advised the officer to leave $25 on an open bible and bring back a picture of himself and his wife, along with an additional sum over $300. After all this had been done, the man's problems would disappear, Whitley said, according to police.

Sheriff's Detective Steve Haller, of the Glades

Sub Station, worked with Belle Glade police Detective Albert Dowdell on the case.

In other Belle Glade police news:

Two men were charged with strong arm robbery and grand theft, Saturday, May 12, after stealing a woman's purse at the Winn Dixie store, on West Canal Street North.

Ramon Roberts, 20, of 39 Davis Terrace, Okeechobee Projects; and Darrell Smith, 27, of 787 Eisenhower Drive, Pahokee, were arrested at about 11 a.m. Police recovered all stolen property.

Clara Mae Washington, 36, 741 S.W. Ave. E., Apt. 16, Belle Glade, was arrested for aggravated battery, Sunday evening, May 13, after allegedly shooting her boyfriend, Eddie Lee Washington, 41, 733 S.W. Ave. E., Apt. 4, in the leg. Washington was treated and released from Glades General Hospital.

On Sunday, May 13, police filed aggravated assault charges against Jose Zapata, 32, 134 B Osceola Center, for allegedly pointing and threatening to shoot a man at the One Stop Oil station, 1240 N.W. 16th St., Belle Glade. Police recovered a nine millimeter automatic pistol and a fishing knife in the incident.

Lee College Singer date set

On Friday, May 18, at 8 p.m. the Lee College Singers will appear in a concert of praise at the Prince Theater in Pahokee. A mini-concert will be presented earlier at 11 a.m. at Christian Day School in Belle Glade.

For over twenty years, this group has been extending its reputation as a very exciting collegiate choir ensemble. The Singers have been said to combine the best of choral technique with the enthusiasm of an all-night Southern Gospel Singing.

A recent review of a Singers performance read, "The Lee Singers are soul singers, not in the currently popular sense of the word, but in the sense of putting their heart and soul in to what they're doing, and backing the effort with solid musicianship. The result is an alliveness, a sensitivity, and a cohesion that is tremendously exciting."

Dr. Jim Burns, Director of the Singers, and former student director of the choir, is a graduate of Lee College and Southwestern Seminary. He also serves as Chairman of the Department of Music and Fine Arts at Lee College and Professor of voice and church music.

Reverend James Brewer, pastor of the Pahokee Church of God, extends a cordial welcome to the community.

Raider track teams finish 2nd, 3rd at state meet

GLADES CENTRAL'S Evette Lyman mentally prepares for competition at the state meet

BELLE GLADE — Second team all-state linebacker Jose Perez, of Glades Day School, plans to play his football next year with defending NAIA champion Carson-Newman College, in Jefferson City, Tenn.

Perez, 5-foot-10, 190 pounds, recently signed a scholarship with the school. A starter for three years with the Gators, Perez, who played as linebacker and running back on last year's state runner-up squad, said he is looking forward to performing on the college level.

"I'm excited. I'm just going to go up there and do my best," he said. Byron Walker, Jr., Glades Day coach, expressed confidence that Perez could play with Carson-Newman. Perez is an aggressive, strong athlete with "a very strong desire to excel," Walker said. Perez said he plans to study business and management at college.

Carson-Newman, led by Coach Danny Dalton, has a five-year record of 34-12. The school has produced 19 NAIA All Americans over the past 22 years.

WINTER PARK — Although their lock on state track titles was broken, the Glades Central girls and boys track teams still managed second and third finishes at the state meet, Friday, May 11 in Winter Park.

The girls, buoyed by four second place finishes, finished second in the meet with 25.5 points, 10 points behind champion Fort Lauderdale Northeast.

The boys, led by its mile relay team which set a state record in claiming first place, finished third with 32 points. Haines City, boosted by hurdler sprinter Arthur Blake's three championships, won the crown with a 38-point total. Palatka finished second with 36 points.

Girls

Coach Jay Seider said his girls ran as well as they have all year at the state meet.

"Our performances were at their best. When you give 100 percent, you can't be disappointed," he said.

Seider noted the girls beat two state records, only to finish second in each event. The girls mile relay team of Angela Jones, Evette Lyman, Leontye Mann and Garcia Tucker finished second, while Evette Lyman bested the state record in the 330 hurdles with a 44.3 time, only to be edged by Cheryl Wilson, Oakland Park Northeast, who ran the event in 43.4.

Angela Jones provided some thrills for the Raiders with her second place finish in the discus. Jones, one of the few Raider seniors, tossed the discus 41.3 feet, beating her previous personal best by about three feet.

Rechina Johnson also performed well with a second place finish and a 14.9 time in the 110 high hurdles. Lyman finished third in the 100-yard dash by a mere tenth of a second, with an 11.2 time.

Seider noted the absence of the team's 440 and mile medley relay teams severely hurt the chances of a third consecutive state crown.

However, next year's outlook is bright. The girls lose only Jones, Denise Bussey and Pearl Hill to graduation. "We should be real solid," Seider said.

Boys

Coach Willie McDonald said the team's injuries finally caught up with the boys at the state meet. Six key performers were hurt by injuries, with four athletes unable to run at all at the state meet.

Considering their aches and bruises, the boys ran well, McDonald said. "I'm not satisfied with the third place finish, but I was satisfied with the way the kids performed."

The Raider's highlight came with the final event of the meet as the mile relay team set a state record with 3:17.3 time. The team's achievement shone even brighter in light of an injury to regular team member Eric McPhee which kept him out of the race. Alternate Alonzo Allen took McPhee's place and ran with Santonio Holmes, Eric Smith and John Ford.

The mile relayers became the Raiders second state championship team. Earlier in the evening, the mile medley team of David Billing, Alonzo Allen, Thomas Stewart and Santonio Holmes ran a 3:31.1 race to claim the state title.

McDonald said both teams showed their character with their performances. "They just ran beautiful races," he said.

The Raiders 440 relay team of Billings, Allen, Clyde Benjamin and John Ford finished third, after Benjamin pulled up in the third leg of the race with a pulled groin.

McPhee finished fourth in the 440-yard dash with a 49.9 time, Eric Smith finished sixth in the 880 with a 1:57.3 mark, and Lawrence Duncan took fifth place in the high jump with a 6-4 effort.

McDonald noted the team's weak performance in the field events hurt its chances at a title.

While the team will lose several key performers to graduation, McDonald said he still expects to put together a strong team next year. "That's part of coaching, that's what makes coaching enjoyable," he said.

Haines City's sweep to the crown was highlighted by Blake's triple sweet. He set three state records en route to victories in the 100 yard dash, 120 hurdles and 330 hurdles.

Blake's 13.1 time in the 120 hurdles was the second best time ever recorded by a high school athlete in the United States. His 36.1 mark in the 330 hurdles was also the best this year by a prep athlete in the nation.

Terr Webster complemented Blake's performance with two championships of his own in the shot put and discus to ensure the state title for Haines City.

Area football teams gear up

By TOM KISKEN

Football already? Yep, area grid teams put on the pads and began working toward the autumn season.

The spring season will culminate with two jamborees. Glades Day High School will host a jamboree, Thursday May 24, beginning at 7 p.m. The Gators will face Moore Haven High School in the second quarter and will tangle with cross-town rival Christian Day School in the fourth quarter.

The Crusaders will also play Benjamin in the first quarter, Moore Haven and Benjamin will play during the third quarter.

Pahokee High School and Glades Central Community School will culminate their spring football efforts in Martin County High School's jamboree, Saturday, May 26, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Raiders of Glades Central will scrimmage with Martin County in the second quarter and then play South Fork in the third. Pahokee will battle Martin County in the opening period and will face South Fork in the fourth period.

A summary of each team's hopes for the fall follows:

Christian Day

Crusader Coach James Jacks said he is looking to significantly improve upon last season's disappointing 1-8 mark.

"I feel like we're going to do well," Jacks said. Christian Day began spring drills, May 1 and put on the pads Friday, May 4. Jacks said he is trying to familiarize his players with the formations, concentrating particularly on offense.

This year's team, Jacks said, is small but looks promising and has plenty of spirit. "This team has more spirit and enthusiasm than I've seen since I've been here."

Several key players are returning for another year with the Crusader footballers.

Leading the list of returners are junior Tim Mann and sophomore David Chamblee, who are vying for the quarterback position.

Juniors Merto Vigos and Jonathan Mullins, sophomore Warren McMillian will compete for backfield spots.

Junior Rodney Brown and Jo Jo Ramos, sophomore, return to lend stability to the line. Wade McMillian, eighth grader, also looks to help the Crusaders.

are establishing themselves as a very confident team this spring, according to Coach Byron Walker Jr.

"They're prime character is confidence. They believe in us and they believe in themselves and in the tradition they have here," Walker said of the Gators, state champs two years ago.

Eight players have been lost to graduation, while 14 starters return for another crack. Key players graduating include Brian Lohmann, quarterback; and Mike Schlechter, defensive back and flanker.

Returning lettermen include stalwart tailback Phil Echols, linebacker Jeff Parsons and defensive back Jorge Suarez. Eric Browder, Bayan Abraham, Jesus Hernandez and Hal Lashley also return.

Walker said he is starting to rebuild his defense during the spring drills and is also evaluating quarterback talent. Suarez and John Hundley are vying for the quarterback position.

Pahokee

Coach Don Thompson said his Blue Devil squad looks as if it will be fairly well balanced this year.

Pahokee has been practicing with pads since Monday, May 7. Thompson said he is using the spring practice to determine just how much work the team needs.

"I hope to know who I can depend on and what kind of fundamentals my men have," said the first-year coach.

Several key players are returning from last year's squad which won its last four games on way to a 5-5 season. Juniors Kenny Berry, quarterback; Donald Edwards, wide receiver; and Vinton Oliver, running back; lead the list of returning players.

Pell Thompson, Marion Sherrod, Kilroy Bailey, Tyronne Holmes and Andre Teet also figure to play key roles this year.

Glades Central

Coach Dan Brown said his goal this fall is simple. "We just try to win every game we play."

This year's team, according to Brown, could have a tougher time fulfilling that goal than last year's 8-2 district champion squad. "We don't have as much talent as we did last year," Brown admitted.

The Raiders will lose 25 players from last year's squad, including such standouts as All American Rhondy Weston, John Ford, Eric Snead, Antonio Holmes, Glenn Roy Thomas, Charles Dowers and Louis Oliver.

"We've got a lot of positions to fill, but we're trying to be positive," Brown said.

The Raiders are using spring drills to work on the basics and evaluate current personnel.

Brown said the Raiders do have 13 key players coming back for another year. Among these are four all-conference players: juniors Kenny Hammond, quarterback; Marty Darisaw, defensive back; Anthony Ware, tackle; and Clifford Lee.

Mini mule provides big kicks for kids

NURSING the newest baby at the Belk's farm is easy, however burping this spunky infant could cause problems for Frank Belk.

By TOM KISKEN

PAHOKEE Family has always been Frank Belk's number one priority, so it's no surprise to find a new toddler being nursed out at his residence on Airport Road, just outside of Pahokee.

However, this bundle of joy is a bit different than most. For while it takes milk out of a bottle, no one has dared diaper the baby. In fact, such an attempt might give the little offspring a chance to earn her name—"She'll Kick Ya."

She'll Kick Ya is a 3-foot tall, 140 pound miniature mule, bred from a regular mule and Belk's Shetland Pony. The mini mule was born Feb. 6 and took residence with the Belks on Feb. 9.

Taking a break from a romp with the mule and his grandson, five-year-old James Randolph, Belk said he had always thought a mini mule would make a good pet for the neighborhood kids. "Kids come from all over to play with her. She's just a nice little fella," Belk said.

While the mule has proved to be a big hit with the neighborhood youth, the relationship got off to a rather rocky start.

The first time his grandchildren met the mule, Belk recalled, one of the kids crept up from behind and spooked the animal. The mule gave the child a seat in the dirt and earned her name right then and there, Belk said with a grin, noting this first meeting was the first and only unpleasant exchange.

"I'm trying to train her for the kids, so she'll know not to get mad," Belk said. "She's turning into a plumb pet."

At first, Belk said, he wasn't sure the mule would ever become any type of pet at all. The infant's mother died shortly after birth and the little mule's chance for survival did not look bright.

Three months of Belk's loving care have turned things around for the juck. She has put on over 100 pounds during her stay at the Belks and is just about weaned, after being bottle fed daily. Continued on 3

Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts from the Glades District gathered Saturday, May 11 at John B. Boy auditorium for the annual Scout-arama.

Boys from Canal Point, Clewiston, Moore Haven, Pahokee, South Bay and Belle Glade took this opportunity to "demonstrate their scouting techniques for the public," said Frank Jones, member of the Executive Board of the Gulfstream Council.

"It is an opportunity for the people to participate as well as observe," he said.

Jones is also responsible for the Pinewood Derby competition where the cub scout packs compete for the 8, 9 and 10-year-old brackets in a race of pinewood cars.

Winners of this year's race were Wayne Corbin of the 10-year-old division, Kenny Lutz and John David Meeks of the 9-year-old division and Scott Spooner and Julius Franklin of the 8-year-old bracket.

Glades Gators club forming

BELLE GLADE - University of Florida sports fans throughout the Glades will have a chance to show their Gator spirit and meet several of the school's coaches including Charley Pell, Wednesday, May 30, at the Belle Glade Elks Club.

Doug Wedgworth, Belle Glade, said all interested fans are invited to the First Glades Gator Gathering at the Elks Club, which will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Among the guests from the University of Florida at the dinner banquet will be Pell, football coach; Norm Sloan, basketball coach; Bill Carr, athletic director, and Len Blevins, golf coach.

All Glades athletes currently playing football at the University of Florida are scheduled to be at the dinner including Tommy Duhart, defensive tackle, sophomore, Belle Glade; Ray McDonald, wide receiver, junior, Belle Glade; Rhondy Weston, lineman, newly recruited freshman, Belle Glade; Thomas Lockett, linebacker, junior, Belle Glade; Gary Hendrix, fullback, junior, Pahokee; and Basil Benjamin, defensive back, sophomore, Pahokee.

The dinner will include a $2.50 donation.

Wedgworth said the dinner will be the first meeting of the University of Florida Glades Gator Club. "You don't have to be an alumna to attend, just a fan," he said.

The Glades Gators are Pell's brainstorm, Wedgworth said. There are similar Gator fan clubs throughout the state, but there has never been an organization in Belle Glade, even though some 200 University of Florida alumni reside in the area.

The Glades Gators hopefully will include fans from Okeechobee, Moore Haven, Clewiston, LaBelle, South Bay, Belle Glade, Pahokee and Canal Point, Wedgworth said.

"It's not a fund raising club. It's just a club to promote enthusiasm," he said. Continued on 3

Pioneers remember hurricanes

Editor's note: The following is the third part of a series documenting the experiences of a pioneer, the Henry Wilson Martin family.

By RUTH S. IRVIN

The First Storm in 1926

Looking back to 1926, we can say that there were two hurricanes even though the first one is not often mentioned. The first one came on July 27 and it was like a hurricane to us, for it did more damage at our place than the second one in September.

Daddy was not at home when the first storm struck, he had gone to West Frostproof to see about his mother who was old and very sick. The morning of the storm, the wind was blowing hard. Mama told us we had better go to Mr. and Mrs. Register's house about a mile southwest around the lake from where we lived. The Registers had five children: Perry, Mary Jape, Joanny, Martha, and Kathleen, their baby, Kathleen was born in September of '25 and Robert, our baby, had been born in February of '26.

We stood at the windows at the Register's house and watched the water wash over the dike for a long time. We watched timbers and debris go by. The Register's house was on the north side of a dead river and Uncle Loney's house was on the south side of the river.

It seemed like hours to us before the dike broke and the water came in about three feet high at the first rush. We stood and watched it surge over a corner of Uncle Loney's house on the other side of the dead river as it got deeper with every wave. Uncle Loney and his family were away at the time of the storm, but four or five colored people were in his house and were Continued on 3

HURRICANES devastated the Glades in 1926 and in 1928. The '28 hurricanes will be remembered by members of the Henry Wilson Martin story in next week's Herald-Observer.

Pioneers recall past

able to ride out the storm there.

The Register's house was built on piling about four or five feet off the ground as were almost all the houses built in those days around the lake. It was not long before the house began to fill with water.

Mr. Register and Perry, who was about sixteen, put a three quarter bed on a full size bed. They put a cot on top of that and placed the five youngest children up there together with Mrs. Register. Mrs. Register had gone into hysterics and she was screaming that we would all be drowned. Mama was working with Mrs. Register trying to calm her and also looking after the little children on the cot. Rest of us were left to look after ourselves and Mama did not know what we were doing.

We were not in the least bit scared and we began to have a lot of fun. We held hands and swam out the kitchen door, grabbed all the chickens we could reach and brought them into the kitchen. Suddenly, we noticed that the water was very deep so we went into the other part of the house. It was only then we realized the kitchen had broken off from the rest of the house and was dumped on the ground. All this happened in the daytime as the wind blew furiously and the rain poured.

The water began to go down by nightfall and had drained out of the house. Somehow, they fixed a place for all of us to sleep. Nancy recalls how wet everything was and how cold she was that night.

The water had almost drained back into the lake by morning. Big pieces of the dike were everywhere and dead chickens lay all around. The chickens we had saved roosted anywhere they could and you can imagine what a mess everything was, together with the thick coating of mud. It was fortunate that we saved some of the chickens because boiled chicken was all we had to eat. All the food had been ruined.

The blacks who were in Uncle Loney's house managed to get over to the Register's. One of the women was very sick and we helped them as well as we could.

We went home and found out that our house had been washed off the pilings. Dead chickens lay all around. Everything in the house was soaked in mud and all of our food was ruined.

Mama kept her linens stored in a big chest. She had bought material in the spring and had started making our clothes for the next term of school. She crocheted a lot and had made underwear for all us girls with crocheted lace. A piece of red material in the chest had faded into everything stored there. Our new underwear and her linens were stained a bright red. Mama had lye soap that she had made, and she used this to scrub out some of the stains. We had a lemon tree with big lemons growing on it. Mama squeezed lemon juice in water and used this to bleach out the rest of the stains.

The Second Hurricane of 1926

Almost blew Moore Haven away. The dike was breeched on that side of the lake and several hundred people were drowned there. This storm did not do quite as much damage to us as the July storm had done.

Mama woke up after daylight to find that the wind had blown off part of our roof. Nancy recalls when Mama called her she awoke to find rain blowing in on her face. We had a car by this time and the storage shed and garage had blown down and copped under the car. All of us spent the day in the car even though the roof of the car was caved in.

Daddy ventured out about dark, after the worst of the storm was over, and he found out that some of the roof was still on the house. He fried chicken, made biscuits and we went in and ate supper. The rain must have soaked part of the house where the roof had been blown away, but the rain was clean and the house had not been soaked with muddy water.

Nancy remembers that she heard a Mr. Walker tell Daddy that the water piled up and broke the dike in the Moore Haven area. He said that the wind had swept the water from this side of the lake away and the lake bed was dry for a mile or so out.

Big kicks

since birth.

The weaning posed the biggest challenge, Belk said, adding that now the mule looked as if it would be around for awhile.

"When I first got her, she'd drink a gallon of milk, three times a day," Belk said. "Now, I've got her down to a half a gallon."

Belk's constant attention to the mule has not gone unnoticed. "The mule thinks I'm her mother," he said proudly.

Sure enough, She'll Kick Ya responds to Belk's call like a puppy dog. And during a game of hide and seek, the mule doesn't rest until she finds and then nuzzles her master.

It seems just about all youth find Belk irresistible and the 73-year-old airplane mechanic revels in the attention.

"If you're doing something for kids then you're doing all right," he said.

Belk's garage is full of carts and gadgets he's made for kids. Back in the rear of the garage, rests a 1958 miniature Model T Ford automobile in which each of his four daughters learned to drive.

Today's crop of youngsters, Belks grandchildren, motor around in a little golf cart, which Belk specially adapted for the youth.

"That's all I've done here since 1960 is fix things for kids," Belk said.

Belk managed the Pahokee Airport for 18 years, retiring in 1968. He came out of retirement to succeed his brother Sam Belk, as manager of the Clewiston Airport from 1976-79.

These days, Belk spends his time repairing and rebuilding airplane engines and still helps out now and then at the airport.

Although the group is just now in the formation stage, Wedgworth said the future could see such things as ticket packages to home football games and game bus trips to and from Gainesville.

"First of all, we're going to see what kind of response we get at this dinner and then go from there," he said.

While the club is at first focusing on football, its scope will include all Gator sports, Wedgworth added.

Currently, there are 32 Gator fan clubs throughout the state, Wedgworth said. These organizations, begun about four years ago by Pell, have provided enormous support, he commented.
